

Women In Leadership Signature Series Jun 21, 2024

Key Points and Memorable Moments

The Women in Leadership Signature Series this week featured several distinguished speakers who shared their experiences and strategies for maintaining positivity in the face of challenges. The session emphasized the importance of staying positive and supportive in a world that often presents negativity.

Julie Untener, Vice President and Chief of Staff to the CEO of NCR Voyix, a company formed from the split of NCR, shared her extensive journey within the organization. With over 30 years at NCR, she has held various IT executive roles and significantly contributed to global initiatives. Her leadership was especially prominent during the COVID-19 crisis, where she led the company's task force. Julie's narrative includes overcoming breast cancer, which has profoundly shaped her outlook and approach to leadership and life. She emphasized the importance of learning from mistakes, being resilient, and surrounding oneself with positive influences.

Karen Hilton, founder and CEO of T.A.P. Executive Coaching, brings extensive experience in HR and executive coaching. Her career transition into private practice was influenced by personal experiences, including caring for her mother during her battle with cancer. Karen highlighted the importance of core values, especially joy, and the need for leaders to stay connected and supportive of each other. She advocated for communities of care within organizations to address loneliness and promote a culture of positivity.

Christine Roberts, CEO and founder of Create Your Best Life, focuses on holistic executive leadership and life coaching. She shared her journey from a challenging childhood to becoming a successful executive and coach. Christine emphasized the significance of resilience, continuous learning, and maintaining a positive mindset despite obstacles. Her unique experiences, such as traveling across America in an RV with her family, illustrate her adventurous spirit and commitment to personal growth.

Embrace Mistakes as Learning Opportunities

A central theme among the speakers was the need to embrace mistakes as learning opportunities. Julie Untener recounted her experiences of making significant errors early in her career and how they taught her valuable lessons about resilience and recovery. Karen Hilton stressed the importance of identifying and adhering to core values, such as joy, to guide one's personal and professional life. Both Karen and Julie emphasized the need for organizations to create support networks, such as employee resource groups, to enhance connectivity and reduce loneliness. Karen highlighted the importance of self-care, including seeking therapy and building a supportive network to maintain mental health and positivity. Julie shared how engaging in charitable activities can bring joy and a sense of purpose, helping individuals cope with difficult times. Christine's narrative demonstrated the power of a growth mindset in overcoming personal and professional challenges and achieving success.

The Women in Leadership Signature Series underscored the importance of positivity, resilience, and community support in leadership. By sharing their personal stories and strategies, the speakers provided valuable insights and inspiration for leaders to navigate their journeys with optimism and strength. Embracing these principles can help create a more supportive and effective leadership environment, fostering growth and well-being for all.
